

I. Mission

To collectively advocate for the health and well-being of all individuals living in Texas impacted by or at risk of mental health and substance use disorders.

II. Objectives

- a. Advocate for policies that prioritize prevention, identification, treatment and support for mental health and substance use disorders;
- b. Share information and collaborate across member organizations to build consensus around priority issues; and
- c. Leverage coalition resources to support legislators, policy makers, and community stakeholders in their efforts to advance policy and law related to mental health and substance use.

III. Guiding Principles

The TCHM is guided by the following principles:

- a. Equitable, affordable, and quality, integrated health care should be available for all individuals, including a full range of preventive services and treatment for mental illness and substance use disorders.
- b. Prevention, early intervention, person-centered treatment, and recovery are the essential cornerstones of an effective health care system. The system must be accountable, transparent and effectively serve individuals with mental health and substance use disorders.
- c. Systems that interact with individuals at risk of mental health or substance use disorders should integrate trauma-responsive and healing-centered practices into their treatment and support services.
- d. Systems of care must protect the rights of individuals with mental health and substance use disorders, and the supports and services provide to them should be timely, non-discriminatory, and culturally responsive in the least restrictive environment.

- e. Individuals with intellectual and/or developmental disabilities must have equitable access to supports and services because they experience higher rates of abuse, neglect, and exploitation, which can lead to increased mental health conditions.
- f. Systems of care should provide greater access to youth prevention, early intervention, treatment, and support to divert students from exclusionary school discipline practices and the juvenile justice system in order to eliminate the “school-to-prison” pipeline.
- g. Housing options should be affordable and integrated with access to supports that meet consumer and community needs.
- h. The healthcare workforce must be sustainable, accessible, culturally responsive, and operate effectively in an integrated care environment.
- i. Elimination of the stigma surrounding mental illness and substance use disorder must come through increased education about prevention, treatment, recovery and care.

XIII. Conduct of Membership

The coalition is a voluntary advocacy enterprise, comprised of member organizations with disparate goals but a common commitment to the mission, objectives, and guiding principles outlined in this document. Each member organization agrees to adhere to a decision consensus model (XIV) that hinges on:

- a. Honesty and Transparency:

1. Willingness to disclose conflicts of interest between member organizations.
 2. Holding one another mutual accountability to the adherence to these by-laws.
- b. Respect:
1. Being thoughtful and continuously striving to work in a positive, respectful and trusting fashion.
 2. Listening actively.
 3. Asking questions regarding shared information when needed.
 4. Explaining positions as issues or potential conflicts arise.
 5. Initiating sidebars when necessary, and following the decision consensus model (XIV).
- c. Participation:
1. Being prepared.
 2. Participating in discussions, not pushing back from the table.
 3. Providing timely responses regarding coalition business.
 4. Supporting the coalition through frequent and ongoing contributions.
- d. Trust:
1. Exhibiting discretion when dealing with sensitive and or confidential information shared by other members while promoting the coalition's goals.
 2. Treating legislative strategy and organizational tactics with care, particularly when working to resolve conflicts.
- e. Collaboration:
1. Striving to focus on the greater good of the group, rather than solely on the organization a member represents.
 2. Sharing information and cooperating in order to ensure that we continue to build a strong, credible coalition.
 3. Not representing the coalition on specific issues unless they have been vetted by the appropriate committee or workgroup.
 4. Agreeing to work out differences with any members in a collaborative fashion through the committee process and using the decision consensus model (XIV).

XIV. Decision-Making Process

By establishing a specific decision-making process before problems occur, discussions and votes will not become a barrier to the coalition's effectiveness.

- a. Decision Consensus Model: the coalition has adopted the following thresholds for developing consensus.
 1. Workgroup decisions require a simple majority (50+1%) of members present to move a recommendation to a standing committee.
 2. Standing committees require a 4/5th supermajority (80%) of members present to move a recommendation to the steering committee.
 3. The steering committee requires agreement from all voting members (100%) to take action.
- b. When possible, and in order to achieve maximum input and participation from member organizations, the coalition will endeavor develop its work product utilizing the three levels of review: workgroup, standing, and steering committee review process, however
- c. This three-level review process does not prohibit a standing committee from taking action on matters not developed at the workgroup level, nor does it prevent the steering committee from considering a matter not recommended by a standing committee.

XV. Voting

- a. Voting privileges are extended to member organizations in good standing with the coalition. Only members who have been suspended or revoked are prohibited from voting.
- b. Unless stipulated by the co-chairs or elsewhere in these by-laws, voting may take place:
 1. In person (telephonically or via a virtual meeting platform)
 2. By written proxy, with advance notification by authorization of the chair, or
 3. By email, with advance notification by the chair

- c. Voting taking place in any standing committee, including the steering committee (or an official vote by the full membership) shall be limited to one vote per member organization.

XVI. Quorum

- a. A quorum is not required for a workgroup to take action, but a simple majority of those assembled is necessary to move a recommendation.
- b. A quorum of 2/3rds is necessary for a standing committee to take action.
- c. A quorum of the steering committee is comprised of 100%, and can be achieved through combination of in person, written proxy, and email as provided for in (XV).
